

Introduction

University is a centre for higher learning as well birthplace for new knowledge and ideas and the knowledge and ideas should be disseminated down to mass through outreach activities for welfare and overall progress of the society. Rajiv Gandhi University also frequently visit rural areas and conduct outreach programme in different part of Arunachal Pradesh to educate the mass. Being the oldest science department in the University, Department of Zoology also conducted many outreach programmes.

Jia

On 16/02/2018, one day awareness cum workshop on, 'Wildlife status and conservation issues in Arunachal Pradesh' was organized at government Secondary school Jia, Lower Dibang Valley. Total 254 students and staffs attended the programme. Dr. Daniel Mize spoke on importance and status of wildlife in the state, Mr Abprez T kimsing spoke on wildlife and ecological services, Mr Jacob Ngukir and Talo Biju demonstrated photography techniques and use of birding field crafts to the participants.