twenty faculty members- six Professors, two Asso. Professors and twelve Asst. Professors. The department offers M.A., B.Ed., M.Ed. and Ph.D. programmes.

CONCEPT NOTE OF THE SEMINAR:

Education is fundamental to our all round development-material and spiritual. Starting from being an educationally backward country as a result of more than 150 years of colonial rule, India today is the largest education system and huge consumer market in terms of students, Teachers, and educational institutes. The continued strong growth of the Indian knowledge economy demands a greater supply of quality to cater to its growing and complex needs. But after 70 years of Independence, we are still looking for Foreign Education Institutions. This shows Indian Education mission is decades away from making a meaningful impact. Till now we are not looking like a Country because of faulty Education System, means ego-centric object oriented education system while our Education System should be Subject oriented.

Presently we have established Foreign Education System for our Own Nation Building (Development of Swadesh)? What a pity? How can we do it? British rule is responsible for India's Self-denial. But we are still looking for that education, that way of Life which has already destroyed our Social/Economic/ Political Fabric; which has already damaged our strong concept of enriching life through the swadeshi way of education. In the current system of education, the shortage of opportunities for creativity for Teachers as well as students is consistent. Excessive use of textbooks and external examinations, to the exclusion of the method of education, is partially liable for this.

So Indian Education System has been struggling to strengthen its identity. Struggle does not mean degeneration of values and degeneration of institutions. It is true that after persistent struggle there is evident improvement, but, still there is no end to perfection. Every establishment has noise. There are issues & resolves, problems & solutions, puzzles & pathways. In nutshell, every society of the world has their issues unique to their society. So does the Indian society. There are numerous issues facing by the nation in general and regions and communities in particular, in one or other forms at various degrees, which need our attention to ensure the security, welfare and development of people and the nation. Society is dynamic so does its issues in terms of intensity, variety and spatial differences. Many paradigms have emerged for sustaining the development of Education System in India.

Transformative initiatives result from complete efforts that bring about variations in professional learning, curricular planning, assessment and evaluation, policy frameworks, and more. Below par planned initiatives can lead to misuse of time and money, broaden inequity, expose private data, decrease sureness in the Education system, and delay the potential advantages. Even elegant initiatives can fall apart if they depend on a sole charismatic leader who moves on, or if funding evaporates. So Technology has to be a primary part of the process.

There is judicial over activism. Indian Education should be so powerful and graceful that nobody should dare dictate. Could we aspire for Indian Class Education which is service oriented, society oriented and Life oriented than Profit Oriented and Market Oriented. It is high time for the Indian Education to revive & strengthen its identity. There are moments in history when a new direction has to be given to it. That moment is today. So we need to evolve about our National Education. We are to understand our strong Cultural Heritage Richness for in-depth knowledge and self Discovery. We need to reshape our National Education Policy with effective implementation channels. There must be a drastic overhaul of the prevailing education system, means we should improve our own internal education system first.

Thus, it can be said that though the focused domains of the seminar are not totally untouched, but, still there is every need to analyze the focused areas in a newer perspective. Let us revive and modernize Indian Education. Let us seminar at the national level to assure and ensure quality reformation of Indian Education. Come, Join, Celebrate and Exhilarate Education!

On the backdrop of this view, the present national seminar has been proposed with the following objectives:

1. To assess the issues and challenges of contemporary Indian society & Education System thereof
2. To bring teachers, researchers and institutions engaged in education on a common platform to share their ideas, information and experiences on various aspects of Reforming Indian Education.
