Abstract

There is a rapid mushrooming of private higher education institution in the nation due to the ever increasing demand of higher education. The demand for higher education is not limited to single state but each and every state of the country is facing a shortage of government higher education institution, if we compare the same with the students demand for accessibility of higher education and numbers of government higher education institutions. In this context though the state of Arunachal Pradesh is late starter in the field of higher education in comparison to the other states of India, here also private higher educational institutions are mushrooming rapidly. There is no iota of doubt that the expansion of educational institution is a positive sign for the development of nation towards enlightenment of the society but at the same time the maintenance of quality education also become more challenging with the expansion of any existing system. In this paper the author has tried to analyze the existing private higher educational institution, enrolment of students, and also highlight some of the advantages and disadvantages of privatization of higher education in Arunachal Pradesh.
