Amidst this, it is important to keep ourselves engaged in meaningful & motivated activities. In such a gloomy situation, music can be a beacon of hope and heal this diseased world. Music can calm anxieties and provides a pleasant diversion during these difficult times This webinar aims to bring hope, positivity and cheer during this challenging and dim Period of Lockdown due to Covid-19 Pandemic will bring together distinguished musicians to showcase how Hindustani Classical Music can provide happiness and a healing experience through its soothing and therapeutic qualities. This webinar is a humble attempt to provide a glimpse of the vast ocean of Hindustani Classical Music. If the seminar kindles the interest of the participants in exploring the healing qualities of Hindustani Classical music, it will be considered a success. |
| Programme Objectives: | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To highlight the therapeutic qualities of Music • To demonstrate the multiple dimensions of Hindustani Classical Music • To analyse critically the healing qualities of Hindustani Classical music and its unseen possibilities |

THE GUNDECHA BROTHERS

The Gundecha Brothers have been, for more than two decades, the most active performers and teachers of Dhrupad (the ancient Indian musical vocal genre) on the world musical scene today. They have made numerous international concert and workshop tours, visiting more than 30 countries around the globe, and have recorded more than three dozen CDs for various national and international music labels. Vocalists Umakant and Ramakant, vocalists and the eldest of the three brothers, both received the Padma Shri (the fourth highest civilian honor of India) in 2012 from the Government of India, and in 2017, the Sangeet Natak Akademi Award, for their significant contributions to Indian classical music.

Born in Ujjain in central India, the Gundecha Brothers were initiated into music by their parents. All three received conventional university educations while also studying music. Beginning in 1981, Umakant and Ramakant began their Dhrupad training with the renowned Dhrupad vocalist, the late Ustad Zia Fariduddin Dagar, and also with the late Ustad Zia Mohiuddin Dagar (the distinguished master of the rudra veena) at the Dhrupad Kendra in Bhopal.

Akhilesh Gundecha, the youngest brother, studied the pakhawaj (barrel drum) with the late Pandit Shrikant Mishra and the late Raja Chhatrapati Singh JuDeo—both prominent percussionists. In addition to performing with his brothers, Akhilesh has accompanied almost all of the major Dhrupad vocalists and instrumentalists of India. The three brothers have appeared regularly on local and national radio and television. In 2004 the Gundecha Brothers founded the Dhrupad Sansthan in Bhopal, India—a unique international and residential music academy incorporating the ancient guru-shishya (teacher-disciple) tradition of education, with students having attended from more than 35 countries, as well as from all across India. Moreover, through their senior students, the Brothers have established the teaching of Dhrupad in New Delhi, Bengaluru, Chennai, Hyderabad, Kolkata, and Pune, as well as in Kathmandu, Nepal. Among the signature achievements of the Gundecha Brothers has been their ability to conduct intensive Dhrupad workshops abroad. In the brief period of ten days to two weeks, they prepare a small group of students—usually from ten to twenty, with no previous background in Indian music and often with little or no commonality of language—for a short performance of Dhrupad vocal and percussion (on pakhawaj). They have also appeared on U.S., British, German, French, Hungarian, Japanese and Australian Radio.

Then, in November 2019, the world of Indian music was deeply shaken by the sudden passing at the age of 57 of Ramakant, the younger of the two vocalist brothers. After a brief period of mourning, the Gundecha Brothers' commitment to performing and teaching has continued apace at the Dhrupad Sansthan, and in a full schedule of concerts in India and around the world. Already Ramakant's legacy is nobly represented by his multi-talented son, Anant Ramakant Gundecha who, having learned from his father and uncle since an early age, has already established himself as an accomplished Dhrupad singer. Recipient of multiple scholarships and awards, he has given solo as well as duet performances with his father and uncle around the world

In short, the importance of the Gundecha Brothers to Dhrupad and to Hindustani classical music is not only that they have taken major strides to make Dhrupad more accessible and popular across India and throughout the world, but they have also brought, with a distinctive range of dynamic innovative techniques and approaches, new dimensions to the practice of the jugalbandi (duet) that was, during the last century, established firmly in the Dhrupad tradition by the revered Dagar family.

3. Pt. Prateek Chatanya

The profound notes of
PRATEEK CHAITANYA'S
DHAYAN SANGEET

An IITian technocrat with a B. Tech in Electronics, from IIT BHU, Prateek Chaitanya had propensity for Ancient Indian Music since his early days. With a firm faith that music is not a means to an end rather it is an end in itself, Prateek gave birth to a new genre of Indian Music and christened it 'Dhyan Sangeet- The Music of Beyond'.

Prateek has lived most part of his life in Varanasi, UP, India and holds such a fascination for this 'oldest living city on earth' that he promises never to leave it. He spends most of his time on the banks of the River Ganges and says that his music owes so much to the serene holy waters of the Ganges.

◆ What is Dhyan Sangeet ?

Indian musical traditions are vast and ancient, much like the sacred lands from which they originate. Within the diverse traditions, a new perspective on the spiritual music and poetry of India has made manifest—this is DHYAN SANGEET of Prateek Chaitanya.

In Dhyan Sangeet, Prateek Chaitanya sets the poetry of Indian mystics and saints such as Kabir, Meera Bai, Tulsidas, Brahmanand, Amir Khusro and many more, to deep and mellifluous sounds, especially designed to open a space of pure awareness which will allow the listener to bathe in the conscious sounds of meditation, leading them into the music of beyond.

Dhyan Sangeet is a deeply meditative attempt by Prateek Chaitanya. It offers to its listeners a music which goes without any musical accompaniment. Dhyan Sangeet presents music in its most nascent and pristine form, with outlandish running underneath.

Dhyan Sangeet weaves an incredibly delicate journey into the sound of silence, with each composition opening a path for the the listeners to go deeper within.

One may be familiar with other varieties of Indian music but Dhyan Sangeet is a unique musical entity, as the approach, emphasis and delivery of this music is truly original and breathtakingly calm and tranquil.

The fragrance of Dhyan Sangeet reaching out to souls across the globe.
